

A Vision of Athens

Mishra - 8/9/14

DRAMA We bring you glimpses from Raju Barot's directorial venture Kanshuk Bhanigayelo Manas -Socrates, that opened to a packed house on Saturday night. Based in Athens of 400 BC, the play was a visual delight with a 52-men strong cast, each better than the next. The use of traditional Greek costumes and the Greek chorus added an authentic touch to the venture. In an earlier chat with the crew during a dress rehearsal, an actor had expounded on the play being a great experience. We agree!
